

Teen Rodeo Set For City

Henry Schattle, chairman of the Cameron Jaycee Teen-age Rodeo, has called for final entries from Cameron and county teenagers for the April 22 driving contest at Safeway Store.

The third annual safe-driving event is conducted by the Cameron Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the national contest sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber.

Schattle said the two-part contest will challenge the best young drivers' knowledge of safe handling of an automobile and rules of the roads.

He noted that all new cars from various Cameron dealers will be used at the contest 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Safeway Store in West Cameron.

Entrants are required to have written permission from their parents prior to taking the tests. Yoe High School students can contact Bill Michalka, mathematics teacher, for entry blanks and further information.

Top winners in the Cameron contest will go to a regional contest and if they win there, on to a state contest later this year. National contest winners in Washington, D. C., will win college scholarships.

Local winners will receive keys and certificates for participation and a chance at bigger prizes in regional competition.

Two Tests

Written and driving tests will be given the night of the contest, Schattle said.

County teen-agers wishing to enter the event can contact Schattle at 1170-W or Bill Crockett, phone 702, for entry blanks.

Jaycee workers will set up the driving course early next week for the driving contest. A limit of 20 entries has been set.

The course includes tests on parking, driving ahead and backing turning in closed areas and stopping.

Like many other sponsors of Chamber broiler entries, The Herald heard from our grower this week, a young man from Thordale.

Gerald Campbell, about 12, told us his broilers did not seem to weigh as much as his entries last year, but he hoped to have some good broilers to show.

The fact that Gerald reported his progress before the May 2 Cameron Poultry Show indicates the business-like attitude that most of the 100 growers assume.

Not only are they learning how to grow chickens, but they are learning responsibility. We're personally looking forward to Gerald's entries as 99 other Cameron sponsors are.

100-100-100

If we were asked about any particular special interest in newspapering, we would quickly respond that we favor news about youngsters, particularly the news telling of their accomplishments and preparation before those achievements.

Another "IF"! If Cameron and Milam County are dependent upon any one factor for future growth and stability, that factor would be our youth.

Smaller cities and communities seem to train their youngsters for a future away from home. Why should we school our kids so they can contribute to the growth of metropolises like Dallas, Houston, et al?

It has something to do with jobs and futures. But an active business, industrial and agricultural center like Milam County can keep those kids home if we think in terms of their future here, not there, wherever that might be.

100-100-100

A letter from a Yoe High School student, Jeannette Richter, shows the awareness our youth has of important things. Again it shows responsibility and interest in the future.

In citing National Library Week Miss Richter writes: "We know that the reading habits of a nation can not be changed in one week, but we hope that this Library Week will help Americans take the first step into opening their minds to the opportunities which reading offers."

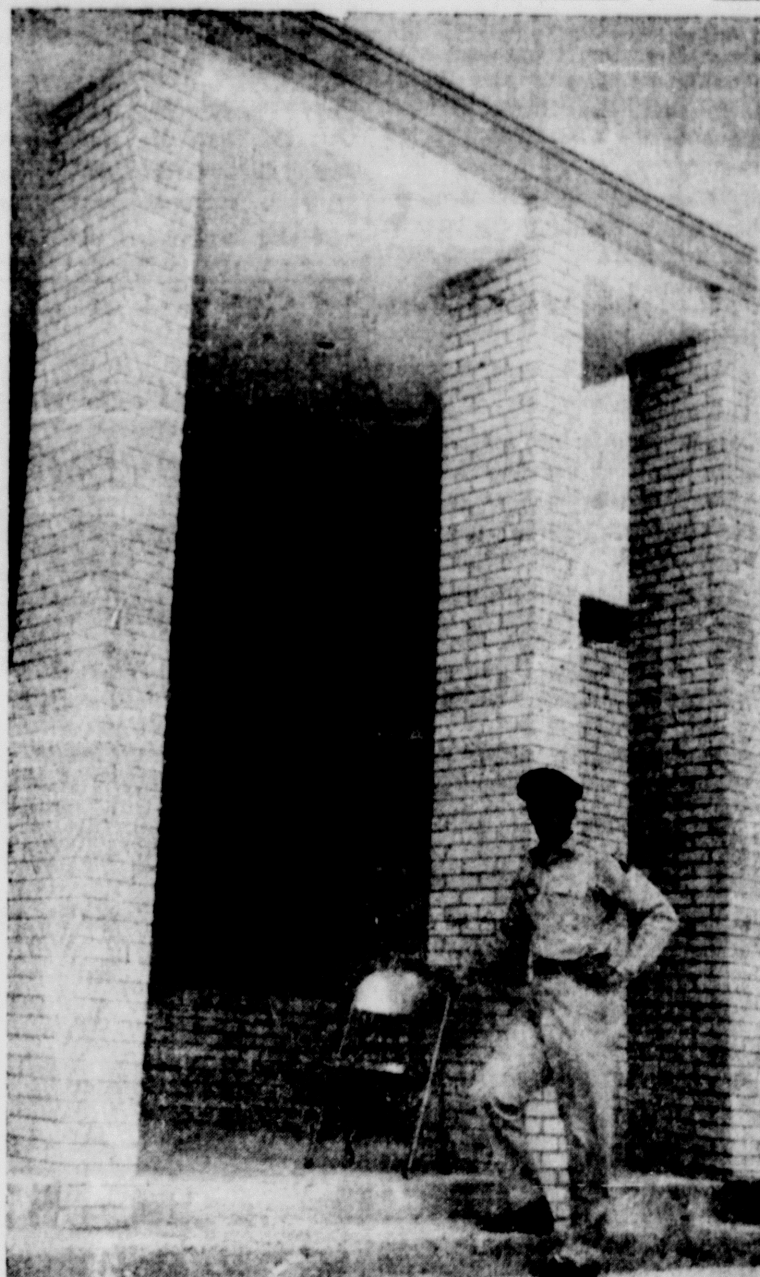

"For a better-read, better-informed America, let us 'wake up and read!'"

She is a member and officer of the YHS Library Club.

CHAIR DRIVE — WO Eugene Mees, administrative officer of Company C, 4th Medium Tank Battalion, the National Guard unit in Milam County, stands in front of the main entrance to the nearly completed Guard Armory in west Cameron. Mees is heading a drive to raise funds for 200 steel folding chairs like the one in his hand. The armory will be available for public use, Mees says, and Company C, is planning an open house following completion of the $110,000 structure.

Guard Unit Seeks Chair Fund Aid

A campaign was started this week among Cameron businesses and citizens to raise a fund to purchase chairs for use in the new National Guard Armory near completion here.

Chief Warrant Officer Eugene A. Mees of the local Guard unit, Company C, 4th Medium Tank Battalion, which will occupy the new building, said that it has planned to purchase 200 of the chairs. They will be used by the Guardsmen on drill nights. And they will be available to organizations and groups of citizens when they use the Armory for business or social events such as banquets, Boy Scout meetings or other gatherings.

Earlier this week Mees outlined the fund raising idea at the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Club luncheons. He reported he already had received donations and pledges for the purchase of more than a dozen chairs. An account has been opened in a local bank for the fund.

It is necessary to buy the chairs he explained, because while the Government has allocated funds for construction of the $110,000 Armory building, it does not supply any funds to furnish it.

The chairs are of tubular steel metal folding design, marine green a $5.50 value, but can be purchased at a special price of $4.25 each.

Mees hoped that Cameron business organizations will contribute to the fund for the purchase of one or more of these chairs. Each business firm or individual who donates to the fund will have his name placed on the back of the chairs which his contribution purchases.

Mees stated that he expected to contact business men and citizens in regard to the project at an early date.

Registration for the District 20 Conference is from 8:00 until 1:30 p.m. with the program from 9 a. m. until 12 noon. Lunch will be provided. The four workshops will be held simultaneously from 1:15 to 2:30 p.m. and a post conference meeting from 2:30 to 2:50 p.m.

Scoring literary honors for Cameron last week were: Boys debate: James Fontaine and Mark Perrin, first place; Edna Luckey and Monroe Barta, third place.

Girls extemporaneous speaking: Jane Russell, second place and Judy Shapiro, third place.

Boys extemporaneous speaking: Turner Newton, first place and James Manning, second place. Number sense: Edwin Adams, second place.

'Wild West' Call Nets New Data For Subscriber

A Herald story on Cameron's "Wild West Days" brought quick response on some of the particulars from one subscriber to another.

Miss Sue Shaw, of Eagle Pass, asked The Herald in a letter last week to help find out the details of "an exciting incident" in 1884 involving Miss Shaw's father, the late Dr. E. N. Shaw.

J. T. Swanzy, of Rosebud, read the story and solved some of the riddle.

Miss Shaw mentioned a letter written by her father, Dr. Shaw, in 1884 telling of the "exciting scene" which took place in the Cameron school room. He did not go into detail about the incident in his letter, Miss Shaw wrote, but mentioned "the teachers are improving nicely at present and I hope will recover very soon."

Swanzy replied: "Your write up in The Herald is something I remember 75 years ago. My age is 87. The incident your papa wrote about was when two brothers used their pocket knives on the teachers—but don't get me wrong, they were not desperadoes—they were nice young men. I knew them for several years after they were grown. I remember your papa."

Swanzy has lived in Milam County since 1887.

If readers seek any information about the history of Milam County, The Herald will publish appeals for more exact information.

Buckholts Wins League Honors

Stanley Glaser and Jeanette Fuchs won first place in extemporaneous speaking at their District Interscholastic League Meet in Brenham Friday.

Commissioners Name New County HD Agent

County Judge Don G. Humble announced this week that Miss Frances Hembree had been named home demonstration agent for Milam County effective June 1.

The position has been open since February 1 when Mrs. Alice Hughes resigned. Miss Hembree has served as assistant home demonstration agent in Bell County the past two years. She is a graduate of the University of Texas with a major in home economics.

Judge Humble said Miss Hembree's appointment had been approved by the Milam County commissioners' court Monday.

Columbus Club Elects Mondrik President

Lincoln Mondrik, Cameron businessman and city councilman, was elected president of the Cameron Columbus Club at a special meeting last week. Outgoing president is Ted Matula.

Other officers elected are: Rudolph Richter, vice president; Albert Frank Matula, secretary-treasurer; and John Gelner Jr., recorder. Named to the Board of Directors were: Albert Hajovsky, Joe Humplik and Albert Michalka. Arts degree in Spanish from Texas

Board Approves Honors Program

The Cameron School Board Thursday voted approval of a faculty recommendation on student honors in YHS and installed Niley J. Smith as a new trustee for three years.

Dr. David Shapiro, second unopposed trustee re-elected last week, was absent.

Supt. Wiley Loughmiller said the board approved the second part of the faculty recommendation calling for honors going to students in the "fast" academic classes at Yoe High School.

Board members qualified the policy in limiting academic honors consideration in grades to those students taking at least 25 per cent of their academic courses in fast groups.

Earlier approval of the two-part report called for granting top class standing and honor society recognition to students from fast classes.

Class scheduling limitations prevent a total honor and grade system based upon only fast students performance in fast classes, Loughmiller said. Only top fast students will be eligible for the National Honor Society and top class position, but students in the regular classes taking 25 per cent of their work in fast classes can earn top grades too, he continued.

The board re-elected Mrs. Nina Wilkerson to the post of school tax assessor-collector for another year and accepted the resignation of Vernice McIntree, O. J. Thomas home economics teacher, due to illness in the family. Mrs. Myrtle Kelley will name replacement for the spring school term.

The board also tabled the summer recreation program since the football field will be torn up for replanting this summer. Loughmiller said auxiliary plans are being set.

And T. J. Kirk was named caretaker of school buses for the summer storage months.

CofC To Combine Poultry-Mall Plan

Richard Moseley, Cameron Chamber manager, has announced C of C plans for a triple feature Mall-Dollar Days—poultry show May 1-2 in Cameron.

The annual Chamber Broiler Show will be held Saturday, May 2, at the Courthouse Square, he said, with ribbons, trophies and cash prizes going to winners in two divisions—pullets and cockerels.

Cameron businesses will make the event bigger than in previous history with Double Dollar Days May 1-2 and an enlarged Mall showing of autos, farm equipment, retail wares at the Courthouse Square, Moseley said.

Mall - 5 Days Set
The Mall display and Double Dollar Day events will run similar to the promotion in February held in conjunction with Cameron's Livestock Show.

Record entries and crowds turned out for the livestock show with the additional promotion added by displays and city-wide bargains.

About 100 growers will enter five broilers each in the contest to be judged by poultry expert E. A. Parnell from Texas A&M College. Sponsors are members of the Cameron Chamber.

The two-day event will be climaxed by an awards barbecue about 7:30 p.m. May 2 at the Cameron First Methodist Church Recreation Building. Jim Knight, Alcoa public relations chief, will be the speaker.

Wide Display Range
Moseley anticipates a much greater variety of displays on the Courthouse Square for the two-day mail. In February, new car dealers and farm implement dealers packed the block with a wide array of vehicles and equipment.

A crowd of about 5,000 turned out for Cameron's first Mall-Dollar Day program. Moseley predicts an even larger turnout for Cameron's Broiler-Mall-Dollar Day promotion.

Trade & Development and Poultry committees of the Chamber met earlier this week to set up final plans for the program, Moseley said.

The young poultry growers represent every community in Milam County and total about 100.

Dog Tag Sales Underway Here

City officials Thursday reminded Cameron owners of dogs that tags for their animals are on sale at City Hall.

City dog tags went on sale April 1, City Sec. John Andres said, in keeping with the city ordinance calling for licensing of dogs.

The $1 city tag is required each year, officials said. Animals must be vaccinated with rabies shots and have written proof of the inoculations before the tag can be issued, Andres noted.

The city inaugurated the dog licensing program last year to keep down the number of stray animals roaming the streets of Cameron.

Cameron built its first dog pound near the disposal plant where stray animals are destroyed if unclaimed by any owner.

Son, Daughter Escape Death, Get Aid Here

A brother and sister of the Raymond Sehon family, Westphalia, were in surgery 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Edward's Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries suffered in a wreck that killed their parents.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sehon, Rt. 4, Temple, who died instantly when their car collided with a south-bound freight at Southern Pacific crossing near Burlington. Sehon was 54 while Mrs. Sehon's age was not listed.

From the point of collision, the train dragged the 1953 Chevrolet about 100 feet where the car rolled into a 12-foot ravine.

Emergency Treatment
Receiving emergency treatment were Richard Sehon, 17, and Jeanette Sehon, 6, son and daughter of the train-car collision victims.

Fireman D. C. Gregg yelled "full emergency" he told newsmen, when he saw the Sehon vehicle heading for the crossing.

The Sehon vehicle was apparently heading south on the old gravel US 77, then turned east to cross the SP track, which connects Cameron and Waco. Train engineer was W. W. McMillion.

The train collided with the Sehon car at the crossing, apparently striking the car about the midpoint on the driver's side. The engineer slammed on his brakes after Gregg yelled out.

Officials said Jeanette Sehon was jarred from the car and was found on the ground above the ravine. Her brother, Richard, was also thrown clear of the wreck as it toppled into the ravine.

Rushed To Cameron
Both youngsters were rushed to the Cameron hospital by Rosebud ambulance where doctors were working over them at prestime.

Sehon was pinned under the wheels of the family car he was driving. Mrs. Sehon was knocked half-way out of the car.

The car was heavily damaged on the driver's side of the vehicle, officials said.

The Southern Pacific train carried nine cars, including the engine. It was apparently headed for Cameron.

Burlington is about 10 miles north of Cameron on US 77.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Sehon were taken to a Rosebud funeral home, funeral arrangements pending.

Chamber Working On Industry Data

The Cameron Chamber is working up a development survey in cooperation with Texas Power & Light Co., according to Manager Richard Moseley.

The research program is being handled by TP&L's R. E. Pitt, Dallas, company assistant industrial research analyst.

Moseley said the Chamber invited TP&L to begin the survey which develops the assets and liabilities on a comparative basis.

The survey will compile in book form for use by Chamber industrial committee and other local groups who could use it, Moseley added.

Moseley said the survey is being conducted by TP&L at no cost to Cameron or the Chamber.

Hughes Fire Hits Roof, Two Rooms

Damage to the roof and two rooms was the result of a fire at the G. B. Hughes home, Route 1, Cameron about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Cameron Volunteer Fire Department officials listed the explosion of a hot water heater as cause of the fire. No one was in the house when the fire started.

Rex Lowe Heads Sonora Schools

Former Cameron resident, Rex W. Lowe, has been appointed superintendent of the Sonora Public Schools. Lowe, who was elected for a three-year period, has been acting superintendent since the death of the former superintendent. He had served as supervising principal of Central Elementary School since 1946.

Lowe, a native of Cameron, is a graduate of Yoe High School and the son of Mrs. Agnes Lowe of Cameron. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish from Texas

Technological College, Lubbock, and a Master of Arts degree in elementary education and supervision from the University of Texas, where he was an honor student.

Lowe taught Spanish and history in the Cameron public schools before going to Sonora. He also was with the State Welfare Department as field worker and supervisor with offices in Palestine, Tyler and Cameron for one year.

He is married to the former Edith Eldridge, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Eldridge and has one daughter, Terry, three.

White, Ellison Open New Feed Processing Service In County

A new farm service that brings a complete feed processing plant right into customers' farmyards has been started in this area by Cen-Tex Mobile Feed Service, of Cameron.

In announcing the new operation
O. A. White and Dick Ellison, owners, said that the new "mill on wheels" is expected to be a godsend to local farmers and feeders who want to utilize their own grains and roughages for feeding livestock and poultry. One of the main advantages of the new service, he said, is that it brings the mill to the farmer instead of the farmers having to take his grain to the mill.

The mobile unit, first of its type in this area, is built by the Daffin raster, Pa. It consists of a complete feed mill that grinds all farm grown grains & roughages according to the farmers specifications, mixes the ground material with feed concentrates, and blends in fresh liquid molasses to produce any desired formula. The truck-borne mill is powered by its own Diesel engine and is driven from farm to farm on a regular route schedule.

The local feed service reports that farmers all across the country have found that it is far more convenient and economical to have their feed formulas processed right on their farms. In the past it was necessary to load their grains, truck them to the feed mill, unload them, wait until the feed was prepared, load it again, take it back to the farm and unload it into feed bins.

Bibliophile's Dilemma...

The Herald joins voice with the thousands of literati, library associations, newspapers and educators across the land in recognizing National Library Week, April 12-18.

One recommendation during this second annual observance is that Cameron and county residents take stock of their reading habits.

A second suggestion is that we take stock of Cameron's library.

Book reading is probably on the upsurge in these United States for only one reason: our population is increasing. Otherwise, the general public is preoccupied with home entertainment centering around television.

We underline television as entertainment because it is primarily an escape media diverting our interests from the ritual of everyday living.

You might test this truism by inquiring of yourself: When was the last time I read a book, whether from a library or newsstand?

Our second consideration is the status of Cameron's library. It consists of two rooms in a wooden government building, of World War II vintage, mainly used for GI vocational training.

Within these dimly lighted rooms are some 3,000 to 4,000 volumes. The building's exterior like the interior, is in need of paint.

There are about 900 library card holders, according to an estimate by the librarian. In line with national trends, it is probable that many of the active library users are school age. Many of the adult cards are inactive.

If these 900 composed an active reading public, it would be safe to assume the facilities would be painted, if not replaced.

The library draws its financial support from a proportionate share of the United Fund. That share, we understand, is barely enough to maintain a parttime librarian and limited purchases of books, mostly for children.

It is commendable that there is an apparent demand for children's books at the library. They are forming the reading habit. But what is happening to the adults? Are we neglecting books or the library, or both?

National Library Week is an excellent time to inventory our reading habits and facilities. If we have one, we need the other. Once separated, they both dissolve. Can television supplant them?

Alarmed At New Trend Of Politicians
 To Destroy Science Of Government

Dear editor:

A new fad is developing among politicians that has me worried and it ought to be worrying everybody else. If it keeps going, the science of government will be destroyed.

It works like this: a delegation of citizens, say school teachers wanting a raise, a Chamber of Commerce wanting a new project, etc., goes before Congress or a state legislature committee or the city government or some other government outfit and lays out its request.

Then some official pops up and says all right, you want us to spend this money, we're willing, but where would you like us to raise it? Name the tax you'd like us to vote to cover this new expense.

As far as I'm concerned, this undermines the whole idea of democratic government. Thunderation! If we have to tell a politician what we want, and then tell him where to find the money for it, what's the use in having politicians in the first place?

How many politicians do you think would ever get elected if their campaign promise was, Vote for me and if elected I'll give you anything you want if you'll show me where to find the money for it?

It's sort of like telling a farmer he can have as high a price support as he wants for his crops if he'll deposit the money in the bank to pay for it. It's like telling an airline you'll subsidize it if it'll increase its income tax enough to pay for it. It's like telling your son you'll send him through college if he'll furnish the money. It's like going into a bank for a $500 loan and having the banker tell you he'll let you have it just as soon as you put $500 in the bank. Better make that $530 to cover the interest.

The danger in this whole thing is that it strips an office-holder of

Capital Report Tax Increase Is Certain For 1960

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Whichever way the ball bounces, Texans can look forward to a hefty increase in state taxes for 1960-61.

House of Representatives passed a general appropriations bill calling for spending of $332,000,000 from general revenue. Senators took a more economical approach, began their work with a bill calling for $30,000,000 less than the House measure.

Even so, the Senate proposal would put spending some $21,000,000 above the present level and require an estimated $117,000,000 in new tax money.

House bill includes longevity pay raises for long-time state employees and increases in welfare checks to the aged, blind and dependent, all added during floor debate. House also accepted committee recommendations for boosts in the appropriations for higher education, state hospitals and special schools and the prison system.

Gasoline Tax Viewed

Gov. Price Daniel says he's ready to support a 1-cent hike in the state gasoline tax if it will be used to improve public schools, raise teacher salaries.

Neither the House nor Senate appropriations bill included public school teacher raises. Lawmakers seemed to think this, if it were to be done, should be handled in a separate bill.

Texas still would have a lower gasoline tax than other states, said Daniel, even after the 1-cent raise. He said he felt sure service station operators would "go along" with it if it were for the purpose of better schools.

Opponents say that, with practically everyone having to use a car these days, the gasoline levy is about as "general as a sales tax can get."

Health Chief Resigns

Recent target of lawmakers is the State Health Department, where Commissioner Henry A. Holle stepped out of his $16,000-a-year post under the glare of legislative disapproval.

Dr. Holle said he felt the department would be better off with another commissioner who could get more support in the way of legislative appropriations.

Meanwhile, both House and Senate launched inquiries into Health Department spending practices.

Flexible Rating Off

State regulation of Texas auto insurance rates apparently will continue for at least another two years.

Senate Insurance Committee refused to approve a flexible rating plan, sent it to the sub-committee "graveyard."

Backers of the bill, mostly large out-of-state companies, claimed it would save Texas auto owners millions. Careful drivers would be rewarded with lower insurance, they said.

Opponents, including most Texas companies, fought the bill, said it would "take the lid off" rates. They said a merit rating plan, being considered by the State Board of Insurance, would take care of rewarding safe drivers.

Lending Bill Filibustered

Senate disagreement over how to improve loan shark regulation brought on the first filibuster of the session.

Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo sponsored the House-passed measure which would, if approved by a vote of the people, amend the constitution. It would allow the Legislature to license lenders and set maximum interest rates. Present

Agent Reports On Sorghum Alnum

By J. D. Moore
County Agent

Sorghum Alnum is a tall grass that will grow in most Texas areas. Grazing is the most practical use of the plant, although few plantings were grazed before 1958 because of the demand for seed.

Sorghum alnum is a short-lived perennial, similar in appearance of Johnsongrass. It has wider leaves, larger stems, longer and more spreading heads and the first-year growth is taller than Johnsongrass and Sudangrass. The rhizomes are short, thick and turn up close to the crown. The plants tiller well following grazing or cutting, with regrowth coming mainly from buds at nodes or joints just above the soil surface. New growth in the spring comes from both the rhizomes and nodes. Sorghum alnum is often variable as to plant type. Plants in the same field may vary in stalk size and height, leafiness and degree of tillering. Stalks of the plants generally are pitny and non-sweet, although an occasional plant with a juicy stalk is found. The grass is sometimes attacked by leaf disease, usually in late summer and fall when humidity is relatively high.

The seed shatter readily when mature. Generally, they are larger than those of Johnsongrass, although the sizes overlap, and the seed covering of both grasses is the same color and shape. Sorghum alnum does not appear to cross readily with Sudangrass and other cultivated sorghums, but it apparently crosses freely with Johnsongrass.

Sorghum alnum was introduced to the United States from Argentina, South Africa, Australia, Nigeria and Algeria. It is known as Sorgo negro, Sudan negro and Sorghum alnum in Argentina and as Columbusgrass in South Africa. The grass originated in Argentina, is a hybrid between Johnsongrass and a sorghum.

Adaptation

The primary use of Sorghum alnum is as a grazing crop. The larger stems make it more difficult to cure for hay than Johnsongrass. The higher yielding forage sorghums are preferable for silage, although any Sorghum alnum not needed for grazing could be used as silage. Sorghum alnum has one distinct advantage over Sudangrass as a temporary summer pasture crop - it makes better regrowth and produces more grazing in late summer and fall. It appears to be more drought tolerant than Sudan or Johnsongrass, particularly on sandy soils.

Although Sorghum Alnum is a perennial-type plant, survival the second and third growing seasons has been erratic. Some plantings on deep, fertile soils that have been grazed moderately have come back to a good stand from the crowns and rhizomes the following spring. Others on poorer soils that have been neither cut nor grazed have had less than a 25 per cent stand the spring following the first growing season. Soil fertility, grazing pressure and whether the plants were allowed to set a seed crop in the fall seem to be the major physical factors in determining whether the stand lasts more than one season. Winter-killing can be expected during severe winters on the High Plains and in other areas of the State. Stand survival from one year to the next has been better in the southern half of the State than in the northern half. Generally, even where stands survived two winters, production declined from the first to the second to the third growing seasons. A few plantings have maintained good plant vigor for three or more growing seasons. In view of past experience, Sorghum alnum probably will have to be considered an annual grazing crop, or at least a weak perennial for use as temporary pasture.

1957 yields of Sorghum alnum and Sudan at the Brazos River Valley Laboratory was as follows: Sorghum alnum - 5529. Perennial Sweet Sorgrass-5510. Common Sudan-5300. Sweet Sudan-5090. Green leaf Sudan-5639. Piper Sudan-7650.

Plants Rated

County Agricultural agents conducted more than 190 demonstrations in 1957 with Sorghum alnum Perennial Sweet Sorgrass and Sweet and Common Sudangrass. The plants were rated as to seedling vigor, regrowth after clipping, stalk size, leaf disease, forage production and palatability. Sorghum alnum and Common Sudan ranked first in seedling vigor. Sorghum alnum ranked first in regrowth after clipping, followed closely by Perennial Sweet Sorgrass. Sweet and Common Sudan had the smallest stalks. Perennial Sweet Sorgrass was third and Sorghum alnum had the largest stalks. Sorghum alnum and Perennial Sweet Sorgrass had the least damage from leaf disease. Sweet Sudangrass was intermediate and Common Sudangrass was affected the most. Sorghum alnum ranked first on forage production on the basis of visual estimates, followed by Perennial Sweet Sorgrass and Sweet Sudan while Common Sudan ranked last. Sweet Sudan grass was the most palatable, Perennial Sweet Sorgrass was next, followed by Common Sudangrass. Sorghum alnum rated the least palatable.

Dairy rows on the Tyler Experiment Station showed a preference for Sweet Sudangrass over Perennial Sweet Sorgrass and Sorghum alnum. Sorghum alnum should have about the same nutritive value as Sudangrass or Johnsongrass.

Establishment

Sorghum alnum should be planted in 36 to 42-inch rows on a seedbed prepared as for Sudangrass or grain sorghum. Planting in rows allows cultivation for weed control, which is important in maintaining plant vigor. The grass should be planted at the rate of 3 to 5 pounds of seed per acre to insure good stands and obtain small stalks. In an Experiment Station seeding rate test in the Brazos River Bottom near College Station, Sorghum alnum planted at the rate of 3 pounds per acre in 40-inch rows produced 7,029 pounds of hay per acre, compared to 5,410 pounds from the 1 pound per acre planting rate. Increasing the seeding rate to 5 and 7 pounds gave no increase in yield over the 3-pound rate. The seed should be covered 1 to 2 inches.

Plant Sorghum alnum in the spring after the soil is warm. Fertilizer should be put down before or at the time of planting where needed. A soil test is the best means of determining the grade and amount needed for good production.

Management

Sorghum alnum should be 24 inches high before it is grazed. Grazing in a younger stage increases the danger of prussic acid poisoning. Cattle losses on the grass due to prussic acid have occurred, mainly following regrowth after a dry period. When growth conditions favorable for prussic acid formation exist, livestock operators should be cautious in grazing Sorghum alnum, the same as with Johnsongrass and the sorghums.

Controlled grazing is necessary to utilize the forage produced by a good stand of Sorghum alnum with good growing conditions. Dividing plantings into blocks for rotating grazing allows use of the forage produced, rest for the plants to allow regrowth after grazing and use of that growth not needed for grazing as silage. Continuous heavy grazing weakens plants and results in loss of stand. Allowing the plants to set a seed crop in the fall gives the best chance for good stand survival the following spring.

A dense stand of volunteer plants may be obtained the following spring by allowing a seed crop to mature and fall or when considerable seed fall to the ground

Big increase in corn, cotton yields

Eddie Sullivan, successful young Grimes County farmer, says: "On the average, I have just about doubled my yields of corn and cotton, since starting to use Phillips 66 Ammonia. Year before last I had a 100-bushel corn crop and got 2 bales of cotton to the acre. Last year, under unfavorable growing conditions, I still got a good yield of corn. One big advantage ammonia offers on dry land crops is nitrogen carryover if lack of moisture brings a crop failure."

Other successful Texas farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin . . . yields of sorghum grain or ensilage are increased . . . profits on wheat and small grains are boosted through higher grain yields and improved forage . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Lee Williams and William Graham Baskin was solemnized recently in the First Baptist Church in San Marcos.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milton Williams of San Marcos and the groom formerly of Cameron, is the son of Mrs. James D. Baskin Sr. of Austin and the late Mr. Baskin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of bouquet taffeta and lace. The molded bodice featured a front lace panel ornamented with iridescents. The bouffant skirt extended into a court train.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a headpiece of rosepoint lace encrusted with pearls and sequins. She carried a white catalpa orchid encircled with stephanotis.

The brides attendants, her sister, Miss Doris Ann Williams, maid of honor, and Miss Jane King and Peggy Thompson, bridesmaids, wore ballerina dresses of yellow silk organza with matching hats. They carried bouquets of white majestic daisies.

The groom's brother, Pat Baskin of Midland, was best man. Groomsmen were James D. Baskin Jr. of San Antonio, brother of the groom, and William Hardin Williams, brother of the bride. Andrew Johnson of Carrizo Springs was usher.

Following a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico, the couple will be at home in Carrizo Springs, where Mr. Baskin is with the public schools and is music director of the First Baptist Church.

Among entertainments for the couple was a rehearsal dinner at the Driskill Hotel given by the grooms mother.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Hefft and co-hostess, Mrs. Cora Edmonds.

Martha Class Meets With Mrs. A. Hefft

Mrs. Alvin Hefft was hostess for the Martha Class of the First Baptist Church for their meeting and social last Thursday.

Paint Brings Fresh Color To Homes

As Nature bursts into the fresh colors of Spring, it is only natural that the home owner should feel a strong urge for an equally refreshing "change of scene" in one or more rooms in his home.

In following this redecorative urge, he is quite likely to think first of repainting the walls, which represent, of course the biggest area of color in a house. A new paint job can set the tone of the room, "pull together" the decorating scheme, even influence our moods. Yes color can indeed excite or relax, soothe or stimulate warm or cool. It is important therefore that you consider the choice of colors carefully in order that you may achieve just the results you want.

Color Psychology

For example—a gloomy, north room will brighten and become cheerful under the touch of a yellow paint brush. An over-bright room will calm down immediately if you add the right shade of green the cool, peaceful green of a deep forest. A breakfast nook will wake the family up if one wall is bright red, the others white. And living room done in light-absorbing gray and rose will become a haven for a tired family at the end of the day. You can even "change" the size and shape of a room by using color.

Here are a few basic rules to keep in mind when planning your decorating scheme:

Cool, light colors produce a sensation of distance, enlarge a room; warm, deep colors seem to come forward, to give a cozy feeling.

A white or lighter-than-the-walls ceiling appears higher; therefore you can "lower" a ceiling by painting it a dark color.

Dark shades, on the whole, are more masculine . . . light shades, more feminine. (don't do Dad's den in pink!)

Complementary Colors

It's effective to use complementary colors. You can paint three walls one hue, the fourth in the complementary shade. Or you can add that shade with drapes and slipcovers. (To find a complementary color, get a color wheel; select your basic shade—its complement is the color directly opposite.) Complements include a cool shade balanced by a warm shade. Colors cannot only complement each other—they can compliment the lady of the house. If she has brown hair, she'll look her best in a setting of slightly grayed colors—soft greens, blues, rosy tones and clear pastels. Brilliant colors are an effective backdrop for those with black hair. Redheads are striking in rooms painted white, golden yellow, rusty red or soft blue or gray. Blondes accent the dusty pastels and all soft shades. And those with gray hair look especially lovely against wine red or medium blue.

How Lighting Gives Bright Appearances To Dining Room Area

Good dining room lighting can not only make food look more appetizing, but it can vastly improve the appearance of the room.

In too many of the country's dining rooms or areas old fashioned and dingy lighting fixtures are detracting from the beauty of the dining room set. In addition they give the food a dull and unappetizing look.

Today's lighting fixtures for the dining room abound in a wide variety of styles and designs. There is one to complement every dining set, be it contemporary or traditional.

Most modern fixtures can be installed by an experienced "do-it-yourselfer" (provided he removes the correct fuse before starting).

The average dining room needs a fixture with a diameter of between 15 and 17 inches. The fixture should be able to hold five 40 watt bulbs or their equivalent.

Stain With A Sponge

You will find it easier to apply an oil stain or a water stain to raw wood with a cellulose sponge rather than with a brush. There's less dipping needed, and the square edges aid in doing corners and edges.

Mixing Containers

To make two convenient containers for mixing small amounts of patching plaster, just cut a large rubber ball in half.

Give Proper Care To Garden Tools

Giving your lawn and garden tools proper care will not only extend their useful life, but will make them much easier to work with.

The storage area must be dry and weatherproof. It should have a door that can be securely locked, preferably padlocked. It is best not to store lawn and garden tools in the car area of your house, with an outside entrance of its own at grade level, is the ideal arrangement. If this cannot be arranged, you can build a rainproof garden shed quite inexpensively or purchase one of the pre-fabricated models that are ready to be assembled. Such a shed can either be hidden behind garden shrubbery or attached to the garage as a lean-to.

WORKING OUT OF A CLOSET is exactly what the home handyman can do, when he builds himself a compact unit such as that shown here.

Weed Killer

Weeds can not grow in a gravel drive that has been sprinkled heavily with a salt solution.

Gas Fuels Outdoor Lights, Barbecues

This year there not only is a wide array of attractive postmounted gas lights on the market, but more are coming, in styles ranging from streamlined modern to elaborate period models. They're being joined by growing numbers of gas barbecue grills designed for outdoor use. Some are of a type that can be built into a fireplace fixture, others stand by themselves. All spare the backyard cook the trouble of making a fire, and the responsibility of putting it out.

It's a simple matter for the qualified installer to connect lights and broilers or grills to the house gas supply. Often inexpensive copper tubing is used for this underground connection. Just as gas lights add a mellow, hospitable touch at the connection. Just as gas lights add a mellow, hospitable touch at the front entrance, they can impart a happy glow to "backyard living," are reported not to attract insects as other lights do. As for the gas grills, they've a special advantage in that cleanup jobs minimized.

COMPACT CONVENIENCE: Any space that will take the fixtures and leave room to move around can be turned into that much-appreciated extra bath.

Plants Set Stage For Outdoor Fun

The chief reason for the current vogue for outdoor living is the "making of friends" amidst the relaxed atmosphere of beautiful gardens, terraces or patios. Outdoor living is conducive to neighborhood friendliness. The housewife can relax while entertaining and yet express her individuality in her choice of lovely shrubs, trees and other plants with which she "furnishes" the outdoor living area.

"Furnishing" the outdoor living room with lovely plants is still a bargain for the home owner who carefully selects and plans what he or she wishes to achieve.

Once the living area is planted it will be beautiful for many years if properly cared for. One may plant for permanence; or plant for semi-permanence by changing the smaller shrubs after three to five years in order to achieve new effects of color or shrub form.

Costs depend upon the elaborateness of the planting and other structures and furnishings that may be desired. A dozen attractive shrubs and a few trees may suffice for a small outdoor living area at a cost well under $100.

The home owner planning an outdoor living area is strongly urged to plan it thoroughly, or have it professionally planned, if possible.

ble. Thorough planning will save time and money.

Here are some things to think about:

1. Locate the outdoor living area properly. Notice the position of the sun with respect to the area, as well as the direction of the prevailing winds. Select a comfortable spot.

2. If you plan the picnic type of dining and entertaining, the area may be at some distance from the house, the back of the lot, for example. If there is considerable entertaining of neighbors and friends, it should be located near the house preferably near the kitchen or off the dining room.

3. Notice the direction from which the sun shines in the months and during the time of day you use the outdoor area the most; and then plant trees, or use existing trees to provide shade where you want it.

Ladder Guard

It's possible to lean an extension ladder against a wall where a window occurs if a guard of soft wood is nailed across the ladder ends. The guard must be a board at least as long as the window is wide.

Landscaping Is 'Showcase' Of The Home

What do neighbors think of the appearance of your home property? Is it pleasing from the street? Do people, in passing, think "I'd like to live there?"

Often the answer to this question is to be found in the character of the landscaping, which in effect provides the "showcase" of the home. Sometimes the planting of a single tree or a few shrubs can change the whole aspect. A flowering tree or shrubs, well placed or evergreens that keep their green all year add "life" to the property.

Test the "curbside" rating of your home by standing on the by the American Association of Nurserymen:

1. Is the home blended naturally sidewalk and asking yourself the following questions as suggested into the landscape, presenting a pleasing aspect from the curb, both winter and summer?

2. Is the foundation of the home bare, or well-planted?

3. Are the foundation plantings overgrown and scrawny, obscuring windows? Do they need pruning, or would it be better to replant entirely with more tasteful plants?

4. Are there color and variety from the use of shrubs or trees with different foliage and flower textures and forms?

5. Does the property as seen from curb "hail" the various seasons of the year?

If the answers to the above questions are in the negative, then it is time to call in your nurseryman for suggestions.

In some residential areas a walk along the street in the springtime is a delight to the eye with shrubs of various species aglow with different or even the same flowers on separate properties.

In summer and fall, as well as in winter, attractive plant contrasts can be shown. In winter, the dark green of coniferous and broadleaved evergreens are distinctive and beautiful against the snow. They add "life" to the property during the dormant season. For fall, various foliage colors (reds and yellows) will give the property a hospitable golden glow. Summer flowering trees and shrubs can add to the beauty of the property in the warmer months.

Wood Fencing

Besides protecting property a wood fence can serve as a shield against sun and noise.

Storing Saw Blades

Power saw blades keep clean and rust free while stored if they are wiped lightly with an oily cloth and then wrapped in heavy waxed paper before they are put away.

Line Container

To store a chalk or plumb line, wrap the line around an empty adhesive tape spool. Then snap the spool into its original protective cover.

Spring Check-Ups

Your roof — the first line of defense between you and the weather — is worth taking a look at in early spring after winter's storms have done their worst.

If your roof is less than ten years old, a simple visual inspection from the ground should be sufficient. Look for faulty flashings, gutters or defective chimney masonry. These are actually the major causes of roof leaks. Also look for loose or split shingles, missing shingles or bare spots on the roof.

Symptoms of roof trouble to look from inside the house are:

1. Stains or discolorations of ceilings, walls, plaster or wallpaper.
2. Warping of floor boards or window frames.

3. A persistent feeling of dampness in one or more rooms.

If your roof is ten years old or over, an annual Spring checkup by a qualified local roofer is recommended. By detecting minor leaks, he can put things right with inexpensive repairs.

If it proves necessary to reroof your house, use the project as means of beautifying and modernizing your property as well as protecting it. In deciding on the roofing material you will use, consider the color, texture and design that will best enhance the attractiveness of your home.

Among the most popular roofing materials from which you may choose are these:

Asbestos - cement shingles combine portland cement with asbestos fiber. They are durable and practical, and come in a variety of colors; sometimes have a wood-like texture.

Wood shingles are still one of the most popular roofing materials. They are often stained with bituminous dyes or paints which improve their appearance and lengthen the life of the shingle. They are widely used to create attractive architectural effects.

Steel Plays Important Part In Most Home Improvements

Home improvement can involve almost every material known to man. But at the heart of the home is steel. In fact, it's not an exaggeration to say that homes as we know them today could not exist without steel—steel in large quantities, both inside and outside.

Steel plays so many roles inside the home, that it's hard to know where to begin. It would be a cold house without a modern steel furnace and hot water heater. Hot air heating systems rely on galvanized steel ducts, while steel pipes carry gas, water and steam wherever they're wanted.

Steel and utilities go together. Steel and appliances are obvious enough, but that's only part of the story. Steel conduit and raceways give permanently safe protections to wiring, while steel pipe is a necessity for gas.

Steel really comes into its own in the kitchen. In the bathroom, mod-cabinets, tables and sinks, whether porcelain enameled or gleaming stainless steel, are "naturals" for the kitchen. In the bathroom, modern enameled steel basins, bathtubs and shower stalls offer every possible advantage of convenience, safety and beauty.

The light weight of steel fixtures can often eliminate the need for costly strengthening of the floors, too. And the new enameled or ceramic steel tile is highly favored for its enduring beauty and cleanliness.

Home improvement means little things as well as major operations. And steel is right on the job again! The very nails and screws that hold the house together are made of steel. Steel brackets and shelving can pay big dividends in convenience. And, of course, there is no substitute for steel hand tools to do the odd jobs.

Turning now to steel's role on the outside and round about the house, there are steel doors, windows, and cellar doors for unmatched security; steel gutters and downspouts (also available in lifetime stainless steel); sturdy steel fencing, steel garden furniture and there are steel garden tools and lawnmowers.

In 1958, more than 49 per cent of the traffic injuries resulted from week end accidents.

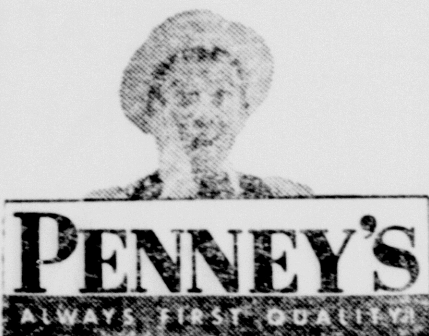

OWNERS OF KITCHENS SIMILAR TO ONE SLOWN ABOVE sometimes hesitate to bring them up-to-date because the job seems too big and may take too long to finish.

THE KETTLE ON THE STOVE IN BOTH PICTURES is your clue that this is the same kitchen. No structural changes were made.

Steel cabinets, a cabinet sink, and new range with hood and exhaust fan worked the magic.

Stark To Head Letter Carriers

Milam County rural letter carriers recently re-organized the Milam County Local of the Rural Letter Carriers of America naming Floyd Stark of Buckholts president.

Also elected to office were Felix Krause of Burlington, vice president and Herbert Nance of Cameron, secretary-treasurer. Narvie Caperton was named arrangements Chairman for the next meeting of the Carriers, May 26.

Carriers attending the meeting were Charlie Nabours, Alvin Mullinax, Buddy Fuller and Ray Tucker of Cameron, Bill Gause of Gause and August Helpert of Burlington. Attending from Temple were Ed Hesse, district vice-president of the association and E. J. Zurovec.

Organization Is First Step To Accomplishing Best Painting

"Do the headwork before the handwork" may be an old saying but it's especially applicable to painting projects.

Often when the do-it-yourselfer's enthusiasm fails to survive until the end of a job, it's because the task was tackled without a definite plan. So it's wise to figure out all the angles before a brush is dipped in a can of paint.

You'll save time, money and energy by planning ahead: make lists, calculate the tools you will need, how you will use them to solve the problems you encounter as you progress.

Then, when you've got all the required supplies and equipment on hand, you'll find the following step-by-step rules helpful in proceeding successfully with your painting project.

1. Push furniture to center of room and cover.
2. Remove pictures, wall hangings, etc.
3. Place newspapers around edge of floor.
4. Dust Walls. (washing is seldom necessary, except in kitchen.)
5. Fill in cracks. Using spackling material for small ones, patching plaster for others.
6. Read directions for brand of paint you are using. Stir well.
7. Dampen brush or roller. Shake out excess water.
8. Do the hard work first. Use round one-inch brush for window sash; two-inch brush for edges and trim.
9. Wipe up drips and spatters with a damp cloth before they dry.
10. With brush, do ceiling line about two feet wide, then go down all wall joinings.

age by using vertical strokes first, then horizontal strokes.

12. Check for spots missed.
13. Wash brushes, roller and pan in soapy water.
14. Pick up newspapers, checking for any missed spatters.

Average-Size Closet Can House Workshop

If your cellar has been turned into a playroom, your garage is full of garden equipment, and every spare indoor corner occupied, you can build yourself a closet workshop as a base of do-it-yourself operations. With the aid of a few basic power tools, some inexpensive lumber and beaverboard the average-sized closet can house an amazingly complete workshop which may include a large worktable, a generous beaverboard rack to hold hand tools, a catch-all for plans and patterns, a cabinet table drill press and an impressive array of power tools.

The secret, as with all cramped storage space, is to utilize every available inch. For instance: a roomy collapsible worktable can be hinged to the closet door and fold flat, legs and all, against the door when not in use. A sturdy wooden frame can help the table when folded.

Asphalt Shingles are available in wide range of solid colors or blends in varied patterns. They can be laid quickly and easily over old shingles. Before the new roofing is applied, loose or curled shingles should be nailed down and missing shingles replaced to make the old roof as smooth as possible.

Back Yard Is Fun Center For Family

Today's shorter working hours and shorter work week have created most leisure time for most people, and spurred their interest in outdoor living, in all its various phases, from active sports to taking one's ease in the sun.

One of the most interesting and far-reaching aspects of this trend has been the rediscovery of the

Tiles Favored For Terraces

Of all the materials for surfacing terraces and patios, few meet so many of the fundamental requirements as well as quarry tile does.

To begin with, it is kind to the pocketbook. Only a few years ago the addition of a terrace or patio was considered impractical by all except families with large budgets and baronial estates. These days, though, improvements in methods of installation are making the pleasures of terraces and patios available to more families.

Second, quarry tile is readily available from domestic manufacturers who maintain ample productive capacity to meet any demand in the foreseeable future. In the United States, quarry tile manufacturers produce a variety of specially shaped units called trim pieces. These facilitate the smooth finishing of almost any conceivable terrace detail. Uniformity of size and shape is another advantage of domestic quarry tile.

This rugged fired clay surfacing material is weatherproof and when properly installed is suitable for terraces in any climate. Its colors will not fade under the ice of winter or the heat of summer.

infinite possibilities of the "back yard" as a place for pleasurable, healthful relaxation and recreation for the whole family.

Often it is possible to put a bit of "vacation fun" into every day of the long spring and summer months by imaginatively gearing one's grounds to play a larger and happier role in family life.

A patio or terrace of flagstone, concrete or plastic tile can provide a perfect setting for blissful sunbasking, outdoor eating and informal entertaining. Building a patio is a fairly simple job for the handy home owner, and by doing much or all of the work, himself, he can bring the cost down to a very modest figure.

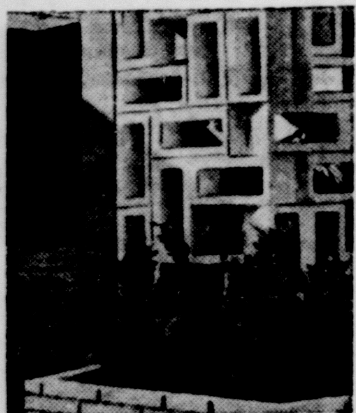

Lawn Possibilities

The lawn itself, if properly built and well kept, can provide the setting for a great deal of outdoor fun by grownups and children alike. Badminton, croquet, volley ball and bowling-on-the-green are some of the games that can be enjoyed on the lawn.

Often, when space permits, it is even possible to have your own "clock golf" set-up (excellent for sharpening one's putting game) at your very doorstep.

Where a sufficient length of space is available, a shuffleboard court of concrete or tile can be installed at moderate cost, and provide many hours of sport for everyone.

Outdoor illumination of the lawn, via post-mounted gas, electric or kerosene lights is often quite practicable and costs relatively little. This will make it possible to enjoy lawn games long after sunset.

PRIVACY AND BREEZE are both provided for by the distinctive geometrical pattern of this patio wall.

Beautiful Lawns Are Result Of Planning, Work And Care

A beautiful lawn that can serve double-duty as a practice putting green is the dream of most gardeners. You'll grow such lawns by replacing those dreams with hard work, loving care and intelligent planning. Here are some tips that should help:

Before you start digging, be sure your gardening tools are cleaned and sharpened. Spade, fork, rake, mower, hose and sprinkler, roller, spreader and sprayers are required tools. But remember that you can always rent (or borrow, if you're lucky) the expensive items.

Knowledge of your soil is a prerequisite for a good-looking lawn. Check with your state agricultural experiment station, county agent or local nurseryman for a soil analysis and for help on grading, fertilizing and sowing.

It's equally important to rid your soil of grubs and other insects that destroy your turf by feeding on grass roots. An early spring spray treatment with a chlordane solution, will wipe out these sub-surface soil insects and prevent brown spots of dead grass from ruining your lawn this summer. The Antrol concentrate comes bottled as a complete unit that attaches easily to any ordinary garden hose.

And the experts advise soaking your grass to a depth of at least eight inches when you water. A light sprinkling of the lawn surface will do more to encourage growth of weeds than grasses.

As for mowing procedure, it's a good idea to check with our nurseryman to determine the best method for your particular kind of grass. A cutting height of 1½ inches or more is a general rule of thumb, because clipping too short will help crabgrass and other weeds thrive.

Avoid Kinking

Cover the cords of power tools with the spiral wrapping sold for telephone cords. This will prevent snarls and kinking.

There were 24,830 pedestrians injured crossing intersections with the signal in their favor during 1958 in the United States.
